War Tax Bill Takes Form Drama in Holland

The new war tax bill was completed yesterday by the House Ways & Means Committee and since it is likely to be adopted more or less in its present form some of its features are worth examining now.

American Fliers In China Sink 4 Jap Vessels

—War in Pacific

By WILLIAM McCAFFIN
Chungking, June 25 — (AP) — With a force of its fighting planes doubling as bombers, the American Volunteer Group has attacked Kankow, Japan's major inland base in occupied China, and sunk one Japanese warship and three transports in the broad Yangtze river.

An AVG communiqué announced today that other vessels probably were damaged and military establishments were blown up on Tuesday in the flying Tigers' debut over China's greatest interior city.

Coupled with this blow and others in which Chinese airmen also figured were reports that Chinese troops, long without adequate air support, had pushed the Japanese 12 miles back from recaptured Kweiiki, in the long, harrowing battle for the "Chienkung" railway.

This was reported to have widened the remaining Chinese-held gap on the important rail line to more than 60 miles in place of the bare 50 to which the defenders had been reduced by the eastward and westward drives of the enemy.

Supreme Allied Leader Needed

Washington, June 25 — (AP) — Designation of President Roosevelt as "supreme leader" of the United Nations' war effort was urged in the Senate today to replace what Senator Ellender (D-La.) termed "the apparent apathy of British military leadership."

"Asserting the Axis foes are in a dangerous position" as a result of the fall of Tobruk, Senator Ellender told the senate "something must be done before it is too late."

"We must designate a new leader," he asserted, "and place full decision in his hands. Such a leader must be acclaimed at once."

"We in America are carrying more and more of the brunt of this war as times goes on. Accordingly I nominate for the position of supreme leader none other than our great president, Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Ellender said the president had, among other qualifications, "the skill to animate others."

"We in America," he asserted, "are alarmed over the apparent apathy of the British military leadership and its inability thus far to defeat the Axis. I believe most of the Americans and a large amount of the British people are nauseated and disgusted with the continuous inactivity of millions of soldiers now stationed on the British Isles awaiting an attack that may never come."

Ellender said he would not be surprised if a submarine came up the Potomac river for a bold attack as he discussed ship losses and pointed out attacks had taken place in the mouth of the Mississippi river.

Keller to Speak in Hope This Friday

Fred Keller, Conway candidate for governor, will appear in Hope for a campaign speech at 8:30 o'clock this Friday night, June 26, his campaign headquarters announced today.

Huge Nazi Drive on Sevastopol Said Slackening

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Moscow, June 25 — (AP) — The gigantic German offensive against Sevastopol is slackening somewhat because of the great losses suffered by the attackers, Russian dispatches said today, but the battle still is violent against a severely outnumbered garrison of the Crimean port.

Already, in the 21-day assault, six German and Rumanian divisions have been defeated, three others have suffered staggering losses, and 150 Nazi tanks and hundreds of planes have been destroyed, said the Russian accounts.

The defeated divisions were listed as the German 22nd, 50th, 132nd and 72nd, and the Rumanian first and 18th; those suffering great losses were named as the German 24th and 117th and the Rumanian fourth.

While the Russians thus held doggedly on at Sevastopol, there was a developing struggle for the Donets and Oskol basins southeast of Kharkov in the Ukraine.

A communiqué which told of overnight operations on the Kharkov front, where the Germans have been attacking since June 22, said only that "our troops fought against the enemy," but gave no details of the course of the battle.

The war bulletin added, however, that "on other sectors of the front no substantial changes took place."

It declared the defenders of Sevastopol in the Crimea were "displaying unparalleled heroism" and were waging a "self-sacrificing struggle against superior forces."

(The German high command acknowledged today for the first time that its forces had undertaken a Ukraine offensive southeast of Kharkov on June 22, anniversary of the invasion of Russia.)

Another Czech Town Wiped Out by Germans

London, June 25 — (AP) — The Czech community of Lesany in Bohemia has been razed by the Nazis on the accusation that the villagers hid parachutists involved in the slaying of Reinhard Heydrich, "protector" of Bohemia-Moravia, it was reported today in Budapest radio broadcast heard by a Czech government listener here.

This was the second village wiped out by the Germans in vengeance for the death of Heydrich, the Germans having reported June 10 they had slain the male population of Lidice, near Prague, sent the women to concentration camps and the children to "educational" institutions.

About 350 men faced the firing squads in that village.

What happened to the Lesany population was not disclosed by the Budapest broadcast which quoted an official announcement in Prague newspapers.

The announcement charged the villages with shielding from police the so-called "parachute agents" involved in the Heydrich plot.

Other phases of the purge of anti-Axis Czechs continued. The Budapest radio said that 18 Czechs were sentenced to death at Prague yesterday and 12 at Bruen (Brno.) The charges were not stated.

Heydrich died of his wounds on June 4. The Nazis alleged he had been wounded by an anti-tank bomb of British manufacture.

Even before his death they started killing hundreds of hostages in reprisal. Last week they said two former officers in the Czech army were responsible, they had paraded to earth from a British plane, and that they were shot to death in a Prague church on June 18.

Lesany is in the Bohemian district of Chrudim, a predominantly agricultural community 70 miles southeast of Prague.

Recommend Big Tax Plan

—Washington

Washington, June 25 — (AP) — Taxes estimated to raise $5,024,000,000 from corporations, individuals, and steeply-increased levies on such common luxuries as cigarettes were tentatively recommended to Congress today by the House Ways and Means committee.

All decisions made, the committee turned the hundreds of pages of the complex measure over to drafting clerks but reserved the right to inspect it once more before sending it to the House finally for a week's debate beginning probably July 13.

Just a fraction over two-thirds of the $7,700,000,000 which Secretary Morgenthau said was "the least" that Congress should provide, the new taxes of the vast war expenditures voted since Pearl Harbor and still would leave the treasury the task of borrowing at least $30,000,000,000 in the fiscal year that begins July 1.

The committee's bill, drawn after more than three and one-half months of consideration.

The committee built its measure around a $5,000,000,000 in increases to be paid starting next year by corporations and individual income taxpayers.

About $2,201,000,000 of that total would come from corporation excess profits rates which have been raised from the current 60 per cent maximum to a flat 94 per cent rate, and from business normal and surtaxes which have been boosted from 31 to 40 per cent.

From individuals, the committee proposed to take another $2,730,000 in a manner which would double the March 15 tax bills of the low and middle income groups.

The members agreed first, to raise the normal tax rate from the present 4 to 6 per cent. Then they boosted the minimum surtax rate, applicable to the first $2,000 of net income from 6 to 12 per cent.

In addition, the committee voted to lower the personal exemption of a single person from $750 to $500 and of married couples from $1,500 to $1,200, but retained the present $500 credit for each dependent.

On the theory that the additional burden might be too heavy for the improvident, they adopted a payroll deduction formula, beginning next January, amounting to 10 per cent of the difference between taxable income and personal exemptions.

In the excise field, the committee proposed to raise about $800,000,000 in additional revenue, with liquor taxes accounting for $339,000,000 of the total. Distilled spirits taxes were raised from $4 to $6 a gallon; the beer levy was jumped from $6 to $7 a barrel, and the graduated scale of imposts on wine was upped about one-third.

Cigarette taxes were raised from $3.25 to $3.50 a thousand; various taxes on telephone and telegraph bills were about doubled; and the federal 5 per cent tax on train fares was revised to 10 per cent.

In addition, it decided that the postoffice department should raise second- and third-class mail rates—under which newspapers, periodicals and advertising matter are handled—sufficient to offset the current annual deficit of $102,800,000 which they incur.

Just before completing action last night, the committee reversed

Supporters of CCC Rally

Washington, June 25 — (AP) — Supporters of the Civilian Conservation Corps rallied their forces in the Senate today for a seemingly difficult task of trying to restore the relief agency's $80,818,000 appropriation.

Discontinuance of the CCC after July 1, voted by the House and upheld by the senate appropriations committee yesterday, faced strong opposition by some senators bearing administration support.

Senator Hill of Alabama, democratic whip, declared restoration of the funds was requested by the war department, which he said was "very anxious" to see the camps' activities continued, mainly for the aid given in improving army posts, for at least another year.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), one of those urging discontinuance of the CCC as a wartime economy measure, contended the chief purpose for its creation in 1933 was as a relief and conservation agency.

Meanwhile, the senate also scrutinized house-approved bills appropriating $336,000,000 for the work projects administration until July 1, 1943, and $53,548,000 chiefly to supply deficiencies for the post office department in the current year.

The proposed WPA appropriation, a decrease of $595,000,000 from the present fund, was estimated to be sufficient for employment of 400,000 in the next 12 months. Approximately 750,000 persons were employed on WPA project last MONTH.

Gen. Eisenhower Heads European Theater of Operations for U. S.

Washington, June 25 — (AP) — The War Department announced today the formal establishment of a European theater of operations with Major General Dwight D. Eisenhower as commanding general.

General Eisenhower, recently assistant chief of staff in charge of the operations division of the War Department general staff, will have headquarters in London.

The brief announcement was made without reference to current speculation on the possibility of a second front in Europe.

Major General James E. Chaney has been in command of American forces in the British Isles, and officials did not disclose his new title. He remains in command of American forces in Northern Ireland.

London, June 25 — (AP) — Major General Dwight Eisenhower has arrived in Britain and has taken command of the European theater for the United States armed forces. Eisenhower conferred with Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt on Monday before leaving.

Leaders Hear War Review

Washington, June 25 — (AP) — President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill of Britain gave congressional leaders today a 40-minute review of "the world situation," touching on the British defeat in North Africa and the opening of a second front in Europe, and the legislators called the survey "very satisfactory and very encouraging."

Speaker Rayburn told reporters that the Libyan phase of the war was covered "in some detail" and that second front was mentioned "incidentally." That subject, he added, "always comes up, of course."

Representative Martin of Massachusetts, the Republican leader, told reporters of Capitol Hill that Churchill "indicated that Britain would hold, and that there is no danger of losing Egypt and Suez."

Churchill's meeting with leaders from both Republican and Democratic ranks on Capitol Hill started off a round of conferences which set the day apart as one of the most important since the prime minister flew the Atlantic a week ago to confer with the president a second time.

The president and prime minister followed up the congressional conference with an appointment with the Pacific war council.

None of the legislative leaders would go into details of the conversations with the two United Nations leaders, Rayburn remarking that a great many of these were of a military nature.

Senate Group to Cut Bill

Washington, June 25 — (AP) — A searching examination into the immediate need of a record-breaking $42,820,000,000 Army appropriation was reported yesterday by a Senate committee today as Senator Truman (D-Mo.) announced he would seek to cut down any expenditure that did not appear to be fully justified at this time.

In a move regarded in some quarters as the first serious congressional questioning of huge military appropriations, Truman told reporters he and other members of an appropriations subcommittee were interested in determining the actual need of making available all of the amount in the house-approved bill—the largest cash outlay ever proposed before the legislative body.

"I want the army to have every cent that it needs," the Missouri senator said, "but we are going to every phase of this thing and if they are building up a big backlog of appropriations that won't be used for months or even years, I am going to move to cut some of them down."

Chairman Thomas (D-Okla.) said he had insisted that Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, appear before the group personally for a general justification of the appropriations.

The committee called Lieut. Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the air forces, for testimony today and Thomas said he would be questioned about the quality as well as the quantity of American fighting planes.

$100,000 Hot Springs Bond Issue Is Sold

Hot Springs, June 25 — (AP) — A $100,000 bond issue for Hot Springs' new million dollar airport was sold today at a price of 10.53 to Cherry, Villareal and Co., Little Rock.

The money, representing the city's share of the government-financed project, will be used to purchase the land and build hangars.

An additional 350,000 pints of blood from volunteer donors for the use of American armed forces have been requested by the Army and Navy. A total of 1,280,000 pints has now been requested, and more than 250,000 pints have already been delivered by the Red Cross.

Family Men, Key Workers Will Be Last to Be Drafted in U. S.

Washington, June 25 — (AP) — Family men and key workers will be the last to be called to the colors by local draft boards under new orders sent out today.

Draft headquarters announced four categories to govern the order under which men will be called up on the basis of dependency, leaving married men with children as the last to be inducted but emphasizing that they could count upon no permanent deferment.

Meanwhile Paul V. McNutt, war manpower commissioner, changed his previous work-or-light orders to give men with essential skills a chance to find jobs in vital war industries before being taken into the Army. Previously Selective Service boards had been asked only to defer essential workers who ac-

Rommel's Forces Drive 60 Miles Across Frontier

—Europe & Africa

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Cairo, June 25 (AP) — Powerful Axis tank forces thrust more than 60 miles into Egypt today, forcing the British to fall back under a covering fire, but United States army fliers dealt the enemy a punishing blow with a second raid on the big supply base of Bengasi, 350 miles to the rear.

British army headquarters announced that the British Eighth army had abandoned the frontier strongholds of Salum and Sidi Omar and that Nazi Marshal Erwin Rommel's advance forces were southeast of Sidi Barrani, with British mobile units fighting a fierce rear-guard action.

The RAF disclosed that the Germans and Italians in heavy strength were moving across all day yesterday to the south of Bir Sheferzen, which is 15 miles south of Sidi Omar and about 40 miles from the Mediterranean.

The enemy then swung northward, being kept under continuing bombardment by the RAF and the South African air force.

Meanwhile the United States fliers in their four-motored Consolidated Liberator bombers teamed with the RAF for the second time this week to launch a heavy overnight bombardment of Bengasi, principal enemy port in Libya for Axis supplies.

The RAF announced that shipping in the harbor was the objective as Rommel raced to "make good his earlier Libyan losses," in anticipation of his drive toward Cairo and Alexandria, now only about 300 and 220 miles, respectively, away from his advanced elements.

The Axis drive surged up to, if not past, the highwater mark of the Italian offensive of the fall of 1940.

Sevastopol Assaults Indicate an All-Out Nazi Drive

Withdrawal of British Said to Be Natural One

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

The weight and ferocity of the new Nazi attack against the Russians in the Kharkov sector indicate that Hitler finally is settling in earnest to the bloody business of trying to crack the Red line in this gateway to the golden Caucasus.

The master gangster's previous assault in this zone more than a fortnight ago apparently was to improve his positions in preparation for a major offensive just how much he has achieved hasn't yet been made clear, although he did force the Russian line back in places. This fresh drive, now in its fourth day, may be the real thing.

Judging from reports the battle thus far has in effect been a triumph for Red Marshal Timoshenko's fighting devils. The Germans have denied the Soviet line in the Donets basin, but appear to have done so at a terrific cost in life and material. Naturally the attacker's losses are far heavier than those of the defense — something like three to one under normal circumstances and heaven only knows what in the present instance.

Thus so long as the Bolsheviks can prevent a breakthrough they are making long strides toward victory even though they remain on the defensive. This is so because Hitler is now suffering damage which he no longer can repair. He already has under arms about all the physically fit men he can call, without bringing out the very young or those beyond their prime. Further — and this is important — he has passed the peak of his war production and cannot increase his output. He is facing the down grade.

Can the Russians continue to hold the Nazis and keep them from breaking through to the resources of the Caucasus and Middle East? That's on the knees of the gods, but the indications are that while Hitler still possesses vast power he isn't as strong as he was a year ago when he recklessly assaulted

Further than the matter of trained workers. It involves industry's ability to obtain enough employees of any sort, skilled or common laborers, to carry on the expansion we still have to make in war production.

The National Industrial Conference Board's survey of employment and unemployment as of April shows only a million and three quarters theoretically available for hiring. Theoretically, because that number includes hundreds of thousands who have worked, who want to work, who need the income, but who would get in everybody's way if they had jobs, and would do more harm than good.

Two years ago we had slightly more than nine millions classified as unemployed. The war has put eight and a quarter million onto payrolls, including those who went into the armed forces. Meanwhile normal increases added almost a million to the labor reservoir.

So today—or to be exact, two months ago, since we always are behind in the compilation of such studies—there were only 1,753,000 men and women who were theoretically available for employment, of whom 1,151,000 were on the rolls of the WPA, the CCC or the NYA, exclusive of the latter's student beneficiaries.

The Army wants at least a couple of millions more this year. The Navy and the Marines will take many. Agriculture needs a couple of millions. Factories which have been retooling and converting from civilian to war production, would like to replenish their personnel. New plants, built or building to make arms and munitions, need workmen.

And that is only the immediate problem. If the war goes on, and Uncle Sam has to call out a second five million men on top of his 1942 quota—

The moral is obvious. We've passed out of the era of depression and unemployment. We've reached the point where we must reinforce such personnel as is freed by priorities tragedies with oldsters, the physically handicapped, youths, women who don't really want to terrific battle probably will be fought.

Most of the Axis armored forces, traveling in at least three columns crossed into Egypt 25 to 50 miles south of the coast, between Sidi Omar and Fort Maddalena, through gaps in the much-battered barbed wire which the Italians originally had strung along the border.

The British communiqué did not make clear whether the Axis forces were advancing along the coastal road or whether they had pushed forward farther inland, forcing the evacuation of Salum and Sidi Omar by a flanking movement.

The presence of the invaders southeast of Sidi Barrani indicated, however, that the latter might be the case.

Such a flanking movement would have enabled the German and Italian forces to by-pass the much-fought-over Halfaya (Hellfire) Pass where the British previously were reported occupying strong positions.

Halfaya Pass is slightly east and south of Salum, which is about five miles inside the Egyptian frontier.

The British have been in possession of Sidi Barrani since Dec. 1, 1940, when they drove out Italian troops which had occupied the town less than three months before and launched a drive which swept 400 miles across the Libyan desert.

(The Italian high command reported that Sidi Barrani, as well as Salum, Halfaya pass and the border stronghold of Fort Capuzzo were in Axis hands.)

Indications that the Axis forces planned a flanking attack on the British frontier defenses were seen yesterday in reports of heavy troop movements between Sidi Omar and Fort Maddalena, some 50 miles south of Salum.

A flanking attack would duplicate the encircling maneuver by which Marshal Rommel encompassed the fall of Tobruk only four days ago and would enable him to employ, in the best advantage his newly won mechanized superiority, for the desert terrain south of the coastal escarpment is admirably suited for tank operations.

Military quarters agreed that a breakthrough in the Fort Maddalena sector might have serious consequences, for there are no natural barriers which the British might utilize to halt an Axis drive eastward along the old caravan trails which traverse the desert.

Rommel's main problem appeared to be one of supply—a problem that will become increasingly difficult the farther east he goes.

(Dispatches from Australia said General Douglas MacArthur had a cabled encouragement to the British commander in chief in Egypt, Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck, saying: "You can do it. You can still fight your way through. Remember Wellington.") ing for Britain.

Eisenhower was expected to start conferences soon with General Sir Alan Brooke, British chief of general staff, and other military chiefs in on welding American and British armies for offensive action. He had conferred with them in a previous visit to London which ended only early this month.

Eisenhower, who was in close contact with Lord Louis Mountbatten, chief of the British Commandos, before leaving the United States, told of Mountbatten's praise for American divisions with but eight weeks' training.

"Six months ago the prime minister of Great Britain and the president of the United States heartened the people of the United Nations by moving swiftly to merge the military and economic strength of Britain and the United States for a common effort," Eisenhower said.

"At that Washington conference they set a more effective pattern for unqualified partnership than has ever before been envisaged by Allied Nations in pursuit of a common purpose. Only recently they have met again to bring combined action into even closer cooperation."

"The presence here in the British Isles of American soldiers and pilots in rapidly increasing numbers in evidence that we are heading to the line of that pattern."

General Eisenhower, a native of Tyler, Tex., and has been a key member of the War Department general staff for the last four months.

Known as an expert in armored force operations, he came to the War Department in February as chief of the war plans division, after having served as chief of staff of the Third Army at San Antonio, Tex. He was put in charge of the operations division on April 2.

basin area before Kharkov, east of Field Marshal Gen. Fedor Von Bock "great losses in men and material" yesterday, the Soviet Information Bureau said, and tank-supported infantry thrusts in one sector were repelled.

On the corpse-littered Sevastopol front, where cordite fumes vied with the aroma of blooming lilacs, Soviet gunners again were reported to have "repulsed attacks of the enemy."

Two operations on the Kalinin front, northwest of Moscow, were declared to have cost the Germans 400 dead.

The information bureau said Soviet fliers Tuesday destroyed or damaged 36 tanks, 95 trucks, 30 munitions carts and five field batteries and blew up an ammunition dump.

"Our warships in the Barents sea sank an enemy transport of 4,000 tons," the bureau reported.

Prospects for a second Allied front in Europe this year drew scoffing comment from the German press yesterday and neutral observers in Berlin expressed belief Adolf Hitler planned a vast extension of the armed effort in both Russia and North Africa, advances via Switzerland said.

Telephone service from the Nazi capital was interrupted overnight, recalling similar manipulation of communications in the nerve wars which preceded Lowland, Balkan and Russian invasions.

Swiss correspondents reported the consensus of neutral diplomatic and informed observers was that Germany would be able to wage war for another year; that the main onslaught to come would be against Soviet Russia's "unbelievably immense stocks of men and material."

Sevastopol Reinforced

London, June 25 — (AP)—A Reuters dispatch from Stockholm said today that two regiments of Soviet troops had been landed in southern Crimea by a strongly escorted convoy from Caucasus ports.

In spite of violent fire from German coastal artillery, the dispatch said, the Russian detachments not only succeeded in landing but advanced at some points, getting behind positions of the Germans attacking Sevastopol.

Fighting continued in the Yaila mountains which fringe the southern and eastern shore of the Crimean peninsula, it was said, while the Germans hurried reinforcements from Simferopol and Feodosiya to the scene of the landings.

The British radio reported earlier receipt of unconfirmed reports of "a Russian swoop on the southern coast of Crimea."

"One agency describes it as a large-scale landing and says marines on the Black Sea fleet were used," BBC added, according to CBS which heard the broadcast.

tually had key jobs.

The draft headquarters ruling was in line with the bill President Roosevelt signed yesterday granting allowances for soldiers' dependents. The ruling established general groups to be inducted in the following order:

"Category 1. Registrants otherwise qualified for military service who have no bona-fide financial dependents.

"Category 2. Registrants otherwise qualified for military service who have financial dependents other than wives or children mentioned in categories 3 or 4.

"Category 3. Registrants otherwise qualified for military service who have wives with whom they are maintaining a bona fide family relationship in their homes and who were married prior to Dec. 8, 1941, and at a time when induction was not imminent.

"Category 4. Registrants otherwise qualified for military service who have wives and children or children alone, with whom they maintain a bona fide family relationship in their homes who were married prior to Dec. 8, 1941, at a time when induction was not imminent."

When a local draft board runs out of men in the first category it will dip into the next one and so on.

Other aspects of the draft headquarters orders are explained in the following questions and answers:

Q. Will it be compulsory for local draft boards to classify their registrants into the four categories and call up men for service in this order?

A. Selective Service headquarters said it was the "expressed intent of Congress" under the new law and insofar as practical should be followed.

Q. Will a married man who is now subject to induction be reclassified according to the new categories?

A. The directive is not retroactive but local boards were advised that "in order to give immediate effect to the general intent of Congress, registrants should be selected for induction according to the four categories it outlines. Officials said that in many cases the directive probably would have no effect on men now in process of induction who might have been in a deferred category if the action had been taken by Congress earlier.

Q. Is it possible for a married man to be placed in the first category?

A. Yes, if the wife is not dependent upon him. She might work and have a salary large enough to support herself or she might have sufficient independent income. The wife's dependency is the vital issue.

Q. Will some married men be called ahead of others?

A. Yes. Local draft boards must fill their calls for men on time and it may be necessary for some of them to dip into the lower categories before others. One board may not call men registered with another.

Q. When may married men and married men with children expect mated would have yielded about $420,000,000. It was eliminated at the insistence of community-property state members.

to be called?

A. That depends upon the reserves of men their local boards may have in the first two categories and the ultimate manpower requirement for the war effort.

Q. What about provisions for financial assistance to dependents in the new law?

A. This depends upon the status of dependency. The law provides for assistance to dependents of listed men below the grade of line sergeant. A soldier's wife would receive $50 a month, $22 of which would come from her husband's pay. The amount for a wife and one child would be $62 and $10 addition for each additional child.

There also is a scale for payments to parents and other dependents on a voluntary basis with government aid.

A&P to Aid Fat Salvage Drive

New York, June 24—Cooperating with the War Production Board's drive to salvage waste fats and greases from the nation's kitchens, the A&P Tea Company announced today that beginning the first week in July such waste will be purchased from housewives at meat counters of its stores throughout the country.

Considered one of the most important salvage programs proposed by the WPB, the effort is aimed at increasing the nation's supply of glycerin, a fat derivative vital in the production of explosives for bombs and shells. Estimating that 2,000,000,000 pounds of household cooking fats are wasted each year, WPB hopes to effect the salvage of one-quarter of this amount.

Housewives, who will be kept informed of the program through company advertising, will be asked to save fats in large-mouth metal containers which may be brought to meat counters in quantities of a

SPECIAL INVESTIGATOR

By BLANCHE ROBERTS

THE STORY: Judith Kingsley is secretary to the president of an airplane factory. Her employer is sending her to the factory's west coast branch to investigate a "clerk" in the organization. Boarding a westbound plane Judith sees Tom Burke, whom she loves and with whom she has quarreled. Tom is also bound for the west coast factory with plans for a new bomber. Before the plane leaves Judith sees two men watching Tom intently.

CHAPTER II
"COMFORTABLE?" inquired the air hostess, bending over Judith and smiling pleasantly. "Oh, yes," she answered cheerfully, even though she felt depressed at the moment.

The pretty girl turned to the man across the aisle and repeated her questions. Judith started at the sound of his voice. He spoke with a heavy accent, gruffly, as if he resented being bothered. When the hostess passed on, he looked at Judith. She smiled, and for a moment it seemed he would not return her greeting. Then he grinned, breaking the stern expression of his face. But his eyes did not smile, only his mouth. Judith had heard of cold-blooded people and now, she was sure, she had met one.

"You like flying?" he asked, and his voice made her think of someone with a mouth full of mush. "I think it is the only way to travel," she answered. She decided if the man thought she was easy to talk to, then she would not be taking too great a risk in speaking to Burke later and warning him to watch out for this fellow.

After a moment the man in the seat in front of her craned his neck to look at her. She tried the same winsome smile on him and it worked.

"Everybody on this plane will believe I am an easy pickup," she told herself. "But so much the better." She instantly averted her eyes and looked out the window.

As the miles flew swiftly by, Judith thought over the situation. These men watching Tom Burke about the plans he is carrying. The blond one is a foreigner, and she is afraid. She doesn't know about the heavy man in front of me. He may be just a curious passenger.

She opened her purse and felt the small automatic there. Then her hand came in contact with a tiny package. She pulled it out to have a look and her eyes widened.

"Ye fishes!" she thought. "Helen's sleeping medicine she had me buy for her this morning." She lifted her eyes and looked at the back of the man's head in front of her.

"If he should make trouble and I got the chance, I could put him to sleep with this." She smiled at her childish plan and dropped the package back in her purse. She was supposed to be an intelligent investigator, not a silly girl.

"She turned again to stare at Tom's seat and as she did, he turned his head and glanced backward. His dark eyes met hers in astonishment. A bright gleam flickered in them and died as she chose to ignore him.

He faced the front abruptly and she smiled, satisfied with the turn of events. The man across the aisle grinned at her, thinking probably that she had tried to flirt with the young man and been snubbed.

"At least," Tom knows I am aboard the ship. That will give him something to think about," she decided.

At sundown the hostess informed each passenger the next stop would be an hour and there was an airport cafe if anyone cared to have a bite. Shortly after that, a light in the front of the ship flashed. "Please fasten safety belts."

The big ship came down on the runway without a bounce, taxied back to the buildings and rolled to a stop. Judith was the first passenger off. But she lingered nearby to give Tom Burke an opportunity to reach the cafe first.

She followed him in and sat down at the counter next to his stool.

"Please continue to be indifferent, but listen to me," she whispered as the other two men took places at the far end of the counter by the door.

Burke half turned his head and stared at her serious face. There was inquiry in the lift of his brows and disturbing sparks in his eyes that made her heart beat unevenly. He toyed with the glass of water before him while he asked from the corner of his mouth:

"Why are you here, Judith?"

"On business—not following you," she said curtly.

"Oh!" The way he said the word was maddening. "You're horrid, Tom," she said, her cheeks burning. "Mr. Watson is sending me to the coast to check on the office force there. But that's beside the point. I'm sure one or both of those men at the end of the counter are interested in you or the plans of that bomber. I thought you might like to know."

But he did not bother to glance where she indicated.

"One sits behind you and the other across the aisle."

Between bites of food he said, "Thanks for the warning, darling. I move than appreciate your interest." There was a twinkle in his eyes that infuriated her.

"I don't want anything to happen to the plans," she said sweetly.

He deliberately turned and grinned at her. He was so much better looking when he smiled. She gave her stool a spin and slid to the floor. Without a backward glance she walked to the cashier, paid her check and left the cafe, red head in the air.

SHE paused outside the ship to have a smoke in the crisp evening air. She was just lighting it when a hand was put to her elbow and the cigaret taken from her mouth. Before she realized what was happening, she was pushed into the cabin of the plane. "Just what do you know about the plans and who told you? It was a secret," Tom's voice was low and his hand was warm and firm on her arm.

"Mr. Watson told me. He thinks there is a leak in the company and I'm on my way to investigate the office force at the factory." She looked squarely into his face, chin up. "Something tells me the foreigner knows you have the plans."

"Well, don't worry your beautiful little head, honey," he told her, and his own head bent towards hers.

She stepped back instantly.

"I am merely minding my job," she said cuttingly and sat down.

"Then I'll ignore you."

Burke moved on to his place, but turned and looked back at her before he sat down. Their gaze met and held until Judith pulled her eyes away.

"Oh," she breathed to herself angrily. "He knows I don't hate him and he's trying to make me admit it. Well, I can be just as stubborn as Tom Burke."

She picked up her purse to repair her make-up.

"You are a fast eater, young lady." She looked up quickly to see the heavy-set man pausing by her chair. "Or maybe you were not hungry."

"I can eat when there is no flying to be done," she replied pleasantly.

"Or a young man to flirt with?" he grinned knowingly.

"He won't flirt with me," she remarked and pouted her lips. She spoke loudly and her voice reached Tom Burke. He turned and scowled at them both, playing his role well. "See what I mean?"

The other passengers took their places, and in a moment the voice of the hostess came to Judith's ears from outside. There was curious concern in the tone.

"A changing co-pilots? What happened to Bill?"

Judith did not hear the answer but she turned to see the two flyers come through the door and make their way to the control room up front. As they passed her an uneasy feeling swept over her like a warning.

Rocks Smother Barons to Hold 3 1/2 Game Lead

By The Associated Press
Quite often a baseball manager orders a dangerous hitter passed to get to the pitcher for an easy out, and nine times out of ten it works.

But it didn't yesterday to the embarrassment of Manager Paul Richards of Atlanta, who had a Catcher Hank Hall of Nashville walked to get to Pitcher Charley Cassaway.

The Nashville southpaw slammed one of Jim Mertz' fast ones over the left field wall of the Nashville park in the second inning and three mates loomed in ahead of him.

Gassaway then held the Crackers to nine hits and won the game 5-1. It boosted the Vols into second place ahead of the Memphis Chickies who lost to New Orleans 4-7. Little Rock smothered Birmingham, 1-4, with a six-run eighth inning outburst to retain its three and one-half game leadership advantage.

Little Rock chased Birmingham's Bob Malloy in the fifth inning with a four-run blast and then pounded Mike Schuler for six more runs in the eighth on five singles combined with three Birmingham errors. John Inglekoter coasted along, holding the Barons to nine safeties.

Today's games at nine probable pitchers:
Chattanooga (Cahley) at Knoxville (Coffman)
Atlanta (Lochbaum) at Nashville (Jeffcoat)
Little Rock (Hudlin) at Birmingham (Stone or Matuzak)
Memphis (unannounced) at New Orleans (Dockins)

Harris to Play as an All-Star

By JUDSON BAILEY
New York, June 25 — AP—Tanned by the tropical sun and filled with tales of army life, Mickey Harris, former southpaw pitcher of the Boston Red Sox, is home from the Canal Zone to pitch for the space stars in the all-star spectacle at Cleveland July 7.

The 25-year-old baseball star is now a private in a coast artillery unit and a soldier in speech as well as appearance. He would rather tell you how the guardians of the Panama Canal are itching for a chance to fight than to talk about the perfect game he pitched last winter in the Canal one's baseball league.

But he obviously is proud of being selected on Lieut. Gordon (Mickey) Cochran's Army - Navy squad and joyous over his 30-day furlough which has given him a few days at the home of his parents here before beginning training at the Great Lakes Naval station Sunday.

"I'm in good shape," he said today, "and I hope that I get to pitch a part of the all-star game. When Mickey told me I would be on the squad he said he couldn't promise me I would get into the game, but I don't guess they would bring me all the way up from Panama for nothing."

"I think we've got a good chance of winning. Our team looks good to me with Feller and Rigney pitch-

New York, June 25 — Fats Henry, who was only an all-America line-man 23 years ago and more recently athletic director at Washington and Jefferson College, will attend the eastern Pennsylvania interscholastic football coaches' clinic as one of the students. He figures he needs a "refresher" course since he'll coach the football team this season. This brings a point that a lot of old timers will be back in harness since the younger fellows are going into the armed forces. Maybe next fall's games will feature the flying wedge and the old-fashioned "T" formation.

Retreading Their Path
Back in 1934 the federal government turned over several obsolete World War ambulances to the Iowa State college athletic council. After some remodeling, which included new wheels and tires, they were used as trucks around the athletic plant. Last week, eight years after the gift was made, Athletic Director George Veenker located eight of the old-style tires in a storehouse and donated the 320 pounds of rubber to the salvage drive.

Orders Is Orders
At the Price Georges golf club, near Washington, they tell about the rookie caddy who was told to "take the pin" as a foursome came up to a green. Going down the next fairway, one of the players noticed a long bamboo pole with a red flag protruding from the bag the flag was telling. "What's the idea?" he demanded. "You told me to take the pin," came the reply. "I took it."

Betty Brown Is Edged Out

By DAVE HOFF

Chicago, June 25 — (AP) — The new women's golfing crop — the teen-age gang — has taken a firm grip on affairs in the Women's Western Open Golf championships, and Jeanne Cline is a better than fair example.

A vivacious miss of 18 years, whose passion is her sports program over a Bloomington, Ill., radio station and whose business is tournament golf, Jeanne with the dark brown hair has taught her elders a thing or two about driving as she trots over the Elmhurst fairways.

Typical was her winning sock in the driving contest. She outdrove Mrs. Jim Ferrier, wife of Elmhurst's pro, by 72 yards. Jeanne can hit and she can chip and her putts are pat, which spells up to a pretty good game of golf.

Miss Cline never has won a major tournament and faces a difficult time in this one, especially in this afternoon's quarter-final match with Georgia's Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta.

"I've improved a lot over last year, I think," Jeanne said. "The trouble is I don't get that competitive fire or whatever it is until late in a match. It's tough when you're playing a good friend, or a girl you've roomed with a lot, like Betty Brown, and realize all of a sudden late in the match you've got to beat her."

Jeanne turned on the heat yesterday to defeat the 19-year-old Miss Brown of Texarkana, Ark., 1 up, by taking the 17th hole and fighting for a halve on the 18th. There were a lot of people who thought Jeanne wouldn't have a match would be a good test of how and Jeanne herself figured their chance against Dot Kirby today, much she's improved this year.

Miss Cline was extended to the limit by Miss Brown, who held a 1-up edge at the turn. The Texarkana girl was two down after the first three holes but won the fourth, fifth and sixth. Miss Cline took the seventh and Miss Brown the ninth. The Bloomington girl went in front by taking the 10th, 11th and 13th holes but Betty evened it up by winning the 14th and 16th. Miss Cline won the 17th and they halved the final hole.

Doll Wozt, Fort Smith, Ark., met Mrs. J. Calvert Shorb, South Bend, Ind., today in the first flight semi-finals after taking a 3 and 2 decision from Helen Olson, 15-year-old Chicagoan.

Jane Whitmore, Little Rock, met Mrs. Estell Dickson, Chicago, today in the first flight consolation semi-finals. The Little Rock girl scored a 1-up triumph in 19 holes over Betty Lou Hammerlund, Chicago, yesterday.

ing and Greenberg and Travis and those other hitters.

"I played about twice a week during the winter and pitched a couple of one and two hitters besides the no-hit game. I'd say the league was about a fast Class B circuit. The independent teams had some pretty good minor league stars from this country. But the season closed about a month ago and I haven't pitched since."

Harris said he had followed the fortunes of his Red Sox teammates through newspaper and radio accounts of the major leagues and that he was looking forward to resuming his career with Boston after the war.

Valdina Entry Ranks at Top

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

New York, June 24 — Valdina Orphan had his early foot laid in the Dwyer Handicap to make it a three-way race for the 3-year-old championship.

They're right back where they started in the Kentucky Derby, when they finished in this order: Shut Out, Alsab and Valdina Orphan.

The title may not be decided until the mile-and-a-quarter Travers, the mid-summer Derby, is contested at Saratoga in August, when the three will meet at scale weight, provided all are sound.

The next important number at equal tonnage is the Arlington Classic in Chicago next month.

Alsab is already on the ground after having been fired for a blind splint, which forced upon Al Sabath's bargain basement bay the rest so many claimed he needed.

Valdina Orphan won the Derby Trial and Dwyer.

Shut Out captured the Blue Grass Stakes, Derby and Belmont Stakes.

Alsab bagged the Preakness and Withers Mile.

TIME SHOWS CURRENT BIG THREE RAMBLE

But these colts trimming each other does not mean they are a mediocre lot.

Valdina Orphan, coming off three straight victories in New England, ran the mile-and-a-quarter Dwyer in 2:01 2-5, cutting one-and-three-fifths seconds off the Aqueduct track record established by William Woodward's Isolator two years ago.

After copping the Blue Grass Stakes at Kennelwood by running Col. E. R. Bradley's Bless Me into the ground, Shut Out won the Derby the hard way. The son of Equipoise was the victim of bad racing luck in the Preakness, but bounced back to whip Alsab in the mile-and-a-half Belmont Stakes in

National Loop's Best Is Walters and C. Passeau

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Those two Hardy perennials, Claude Passeau and William (Lucky Bucky) Walters, are bidding strongly for the pitching leadership of the National League again.

This year most of the attention in the senior circuit has been given to Mort Cooper of the St. Louis Cardinals, with his five shutouts, and Lefty Larry French of the Brooklyn Dodgers, with his unmarred record of six victories and an earned run average of less than one per nine innings.

But Passeau and Walters made their claims heard anew last night with standout performances. Passeau pitched a four-hitter for the Chicago Cubs to beat the Philadelphia Phils, 3-1, and attain his 11th victory, the most games any pitcher in the major leagues has won.

He has accounted for exactly one third of all the victories the second-division Bruins have scored this season.

Walters, like Passeau, hasn't had much help from his teammates, with Cincinnati ranking last in the league in both batting and fielding, yet last night he scored his eighth success against five setbacks by holding the New York Giants to six hits over ten innings to lead the Reds to a 4-3 decision in a twilight tussle.

He had a duel all the way with Hal Schumacher. A two-run homer by Frank McCormick tied the score in the eighth inning and another roundtripper by rookie Bert Haas in the overtime stanza settled the issue.

The Reds' triumph coincided with a double defeat for the St. Louis Cardinals to close the gap between second and third place to a single game.

The Redbirds were beaten 6-2 and 3-1 at Boston by the Braves yesterday as Jim Tobin and rookie Willard Donovan turned in two nice pitching jobs. Tobin was tapped for 11 hits, but kept them spaced and collected his first victory since 2:29 1-5.

You have to go back to War Admiral's 2:28 3-5 to top Shut Out's performance in the Belmont in 2:35 4-5; Gallant Fox in 2:31 3-5; Twenty Grand, Johnstown and Bimelech in 2:29 3-5, and Whirlaway in 2:31.

The track record—2:28 2-5—was established by the ill-fated Sortadeo, but he lugged no more than 12 pounds. Shut Out and the others packed 126.

Alsab ran the fastest Preakness in history and turned in a remarkable Withers Mile.

Shut Out spotted Valdina Orphan 10 pounds, but did get a 10-pound licking.

SHUT OUT DID NOT GET A TEN-POUND LICKING

A two-and-a-half pounds at a mile-and-a-quarter is a length. Emerson F. Woodward's bay prevailed by two lengths as the Greentree standard bearer sprawled out a bit in the final furlong, when it appeared that he would look the Texas-owned steed in the eye.

So, you see, on cold dope the result would have been the reverse at equal weights.

It's now the Big Three instead of the Big Two, and the 3-year-olds have just begun to fight.
